

I am a professional truck driver that supports xm radio and the instant traffic and weather channels. I use these channels to help preplan and plan trips professionally and privately. I think it's very disturbing that this has gone this far. There are a lot of people who use xm for this matter not just truck drivers. When we get to a city it's too late to hear about the accident or bad weather by the time we get in range of the local radio stations. This is a great tool for everybody to use. Greed should not have a factor in this matter. Competition is what this business world is made off and the local stations have their clientele. They only lose their clientele when they stop providing what the customers want. Xm radio is also a private business. We the customers pay for the service we want. Therefore we should not have to suffer from the greed of the NAB's. For the professional drivers and the travelers off this great Nation we ask you don't pass this ruling. Please leave it alone and let the members of XM Radio keep these important channels.

Thank You very much,
David S. Hill
